ADIOS MY FRIENDS
To the Class of 1981:

As you leave the Academy to join the ranks of Maine Maritime alumni, I wish you every success in the profession you have chosen and for which you have strived so hard.

The road of life ahead will be one of challenges and rewards. The goals you have set for yourself are attainable and are achieved by initiative, self-discipline and a professional attitude toward your work. Satisfaction will come from your successes in life as long as you can always show an honest respect for yourself and your fellow man.

My congratulations to you for achieving your initial goal. May each opportunity that you encounter become steps on your ladder to success and bringing happiness throughout your life. Those of us who have had a part in preparing you for your chosen career will follow your progress with great interest and we look forward to hearing from you and to having you visit your alma mater from time to time.

Best wishes in your every endeavor.

Once upon a time I decided to go to Maine Maritime.

Now my friends all told me I was a fool, but I told them "I want to be a tool." Once I got here, I realized I must have been in a stupor because at heart I am a SUPER TROOPER.

So I resigned to my fate, and waited for my fate to come.

Now that I'm finally done, it's time to have some fun.

ENRICHING OUR LIVES

It is not necessary to climb Mount Everest or to fly to the moon in order to enrich our lives. We have but to move one unaccustomed step forward, open one unfamiliar book, lift our eyes from the ground to the sky and a host of thrilling novelties appear to enkindle our minds and souls.

Let a person dedicate himself to hunting out all the new things that his eyes can see. There is a delight in listening to the whine of the wind, the buzzing of insects, the echo of a waterfall, the ripples of the lake.

There is joy in the smooth texture of a leaf, the crunching of earth underfoot. These all make the world a marvelous place filled with countless wonders that a man may love to the end of his days.

There is a home that lies beyond—
And past its golden door
Awaits the one
Who's now away,
Not last—
Just gone before.
And in that home
That lies beyond
The Master
Will prepare
A place for you,
And when He calls
You'll meet your loved one there.

I would like to dedicate this page to all the people who helped me through these last four years. To Mike and Cathy Wing who gave me good times and guidance. To David and Doreen for their help and understanding. To Mike and Janet who helped a friend when he was in trouble. Many thanks to my parents, without your love and devotion I would have never made it through. My last thanks go to my closest friend Roger Miller.

Mom and Dad,
With all my love I thank you for your never ending love and support over the past 21 years and especially for your tolerance and my basset in the last 4 years.

I dedicate this page to the creators I have friends at home and here in hell. The Beatles said, "We'll all get by with a little help from our friends."

During the past four years, I chose two paths in the pursuit of freedom. Little did I know that these paths would greatly influence my future, both on the professional and spiritual level.

I chose the first path as it presented itself to me. Spiritual horizons that I was never aware of were expanded and a new world unfolded before my eyes. Very few people could understand the changes that I've gone through, and that is understandable. Only those that were able to share a close relationship with me would be able to understand the significance of this picture in the background. It means very much to me because I'm seeking personal spiritual freedom, and I'm really happy about that.

To my father — There isn't any doubt, in my mind, that I've been able to come this far because I've been able to work together with you. You've always been my co-pilot in all of my endeavors. This is only the beginning!!

To my mother — You've always been there to provide the security and stability that I've needed when all those new challenges came my way. You're a great friend!!!

I'm really proud of my family. We have come so far in the past four years, and where we are going is nothing short of a paradise. I dedicate this page to the Grisanzio family.

My family joins me in my second path to freedom!!!
- We're going to have a good time as "Directs"
- We're going to smile as "Emeralds"
- We're going to do what we want to as "Diamonds"
- And the Grisanzio family, for decades to come, will be absolutely free as "Crowns."

I'm grateful to anyone that is happy or 'free'

Pope vs. Who

I was just reading about the pope’s visit to Zaire and the nine people trampled to death there. I’ll bet no one is going to file lawsuits against the pope. And will they ban religious gatherings? Will they denounce old bald men and say, “See what can happen with his kind”? I note that he was allowed to continue his tour with no repercussions from irate mayors.

Lon Golzé

Ann Arbor, Michigan

When eleven who fans died in Cincinnati, people said it only went to show the evil of rock & roll and of its listeners. Now nine people died at the pope’s appearance in Zaire. It just goes to show the evil inherent in religion and religious people.

Ken Fraser: March 16, 1911, April 5, 1975

This page is dedicated to my grandfather Capt. Ken Fraser, who never had the chance to see my dream become reality.

It's time to catch up and say those things you've said never got said. To my parents and grandparents without whose help I could never have done it. And to Ann, who put me on the right road again and brought my goals back in sight. To my friends and friends who made the hard times easier.

The Masters of Procrastination

My grandparents, who stood behind and understood when my parents couldn't.

A THANKSGIVING PRAYER
Thank you, God, for the gift of life. Help me to live it as you would want me to. Thank you, God, for my talents and abilities. May I accept them and use them for the common good. Thank you, God, for all the Happy Times. Help me to make others happy. Thank you, God, for the beauty around me. May I help to make the world even more beautiful. Thank you, God, for the inspiration you give to me. Help me be an inspiration to others. Thank you, God, for health and strength. May I care for and reverence the body you have given me. Thank you, God, for each new day. Help me to live it to the fullest. Thank you, God, for those who love me. May I love others as you would want me to. Thank you, God, for the faith with which you have blessed me. May I always profess it proudly. Thank you, God, for giving me this opportunity to say: "THANK YOU".
TO MY PARENTS: THANKS FOR EVERYTHING, YOU BACKED ME ALL THE WAY, THROUGH THE GOOD AND BAD. I LOVE YOU BOTH!

BAD TIMES YOU LOSE, BUT GOOD TIMES ARE WITH YOU FOREVER. AMF . . . ADIOS

We walked along the sand wondering why our relationship
is so successful in a time when most are not
we thought about
how we respect each other
how we give each other freedom
and how we have fun together

We stopped to rest on a huge moss rock, and continued to think how honest we are with each other
how we tell each other every feeling
we have, whether good or bad
how we never have to pretend to each other

We ran back to the shore, holding hands, still not knowing why our relationship is so beautiful but very thankful that it is

To My Parents:

When I was small, to take Beneficial Criticism was hard thing to swallow. But somehow, with the love you've given and understanding that comes from folks in a patient bed, now as a college grad, I don't know how I can ever repay the love and kindness you've shown me over the years. I promise you I will never forget. Mom and Dad, always be there for me. I love you both!!

To My Roommate:

Vern: It's been real! Four years went by fast when you're having fun. You Deckie, me Engineer!! Ah, yes, the motorcycle days, various summer jobs, not to mention "reconstruction" of a house (Ha! Ha) Etc, Etc.

Keep in touch buddy! Remember, we still have to make another motorcycle trip to Cadillac, Mt.

FUTURE’S HORIZON
As time goes by we have a lot of good times and bad times. I prefer to remember the good ones and laugh at the bad. Those with a sense of humor that can take life with a grain of salt, possess a valuable trait that earns everyone through those people pictured above and many others have done this for me. I hope I have given equally in return.

Thanks.
Success is feminine and like a woman; if you cringe before her, she will override you. So the way to treat her is to show her the back of your hand. Then maybe she will do the crawling.

But I say, when I was a child I spoke and thought and reasoned as a child does. But when I became a man my thoughts grew far beyond those of my childhood and now I have put away the childish things. In the same way we can see and understand a little about God now, as if we were peering at his reflection in a poor mirror; but we are going to see him in his completeness, face to face. Now, all that I know and love, and the love that I feel for everything clearly, just as clearly as God reveals my sight right now. I may see those things that remain—Faith, Hope and LOVE—out of the glimpses of those in LOVE.

There is something I've heard that I want to remember all of my life. A man told me once that "In the end it's not how much you've done that counts, but rather, how well you have loved." During these four years here I've seen both sides and have decided to turn away from the life that would consume me with unimportant things. Instead, I'm offering this life back to Him from whom it comes anyway. My friends and those I love understand how I've come to believe that this is right for me.

Thank you, Mom, for your understanding and unconditional love. Someday I'll be able to understand all you've sacrificed to make what I have possible. Mike, I love you more than a brother. We've shared everything; life, joys, frustrations, beer, 'gammon, and our faith. To my special friends I give thanks for being a community. Grammie, you hold a special place in my heart. Love to the rest of my family, too.

And to my Carmen, I give all I am. Every day I live I discover more and more how impossible it is for me to live without you. If only everyone could have what we do.

I dedicate this page to all those I love; my friends, family, and those in Antioch who have helped me become what I am.

For me to make it through four years of MMA it took the love, support, and understanding of many people. I'd like to thank you all very much. A special thanks goes to first, my brother Brian for making his home always open. To the Fassnacht and Beatrice Woodhead Family and to the Chief and Mrs. Charles Forrest Family for making me a part of their Families when my Parents were so many miles away. Finally the biggest thank you of all goes to Mom and Dad who made me able to make MMA part of my past.

With a lot of love and support from his parents and friends...
In remembrance of my family, Who loved.
In dedication to my friends, Who cared.
And to all of them, My thanks for their support.
Special thanks to my "mothers." For being there.

Why were they asking this question? The answer is simple — This year the football team won the NEFC with an 8-1 record. The defense was ranked number 1 in the nation in all categories and the All-Star lists on the New England Sports Pages were occupied by many MMA players. It was truly a remarkable season.

The individual accomplishments were many, and Saturday's heroes abound on the following pages. However, the one thing which must be stressed is that we practiced, played, won and lost as a team. We grew and matured with each passing day. Each one of us shared in the thrill of victory and the disappointment in defeat. And in the end we were unbeatable.

So to you, the coaches, thanks, you made us what we are. To my fellow teammates, these following pages show what you get when you
