Tricks End

Webster defines 'Tricks End' as:
"...The relief of the helmsman from the wheel." We, the yearbook staff, however define it far less eloquently although the essence prevails. Thus, we decided, so should the title of this two hundred and ninety-eight page docudrama.

Tricks End '87 therefore is a visual reminder of the watch that each of us (featured on the following pages) on a small ship called Maine Maritime Academy, in a desolate Sea known as Castine, stood. It's a tale of truths, triumphs, and treasures. Truths realized from a science of unknowns, triumphs over an ocean of obstacles, and the treasures that we hold both in our hands and our minds.

For as our turn at the wheel is passed along to another a greater wheel is in turn passed along to us which is where we (classmates) may take heart for there is no wheel too great for graduates of Maine Maritime Academy. Especially from the Class of 1987.

Sincerely,
Ted Regan
Yearbook Editor
To the Class of 1987

18 April 1987

As you complete your education at Maine Maritime Academy, and as I approach my first commencement as president, let me offer warm greetings and congratulations. Your class is outstanding in many respects and will be remembered with pride by all of us in Castine.

You are graduating into a world where there are no guarantees and, unquestionably, the industry for which you have been trained is sailing in troubled waters. Nevertheless, we look to the future with optimism because of the unique nature of this educational enterprise, and because of the sense of vision that has characterized Maine Maritime Academy for nearly half a century.

Your experience here has prepared you for success in ways that, at this point, you may not fully realize. I can assure you that society will recognize you as products of a college that has strengthened your character, your sense of discipline, and your commitment to high professional and personal values.

We can’t know what the future holds, but there is one certainty — that wherever you travel, from here on out to the end of the line, you will be a representative of this proud institution and everything for which it stands.

All good wishes for the years ahead.

Sincerely,

KENNETH M. CURTIS

Dear Graduate,

As one travels through life there are several “descriptors” often asked of one to help define them in the eyes of the inquirer. Whether at a party or in an interview you will probably be asked where you are from, if you are married, what you do, where you went to school.

At those times you often begin to realize just how important those college years were to your personal development, and just how much pleasure they gave you. Rarely again will you have so much unobligated time and boundless energy to do what you want amongst so many friends. The hard times dim over the years, but the good times live on and on. And so it should be.

Hopefully you will feel great pride and pleasure at saying that you went to Maine Maritime Academy. I certainly say with pride that I taught to and worked with the Class of 1987.

Good luck, and may the waters of your life be calm and the winds of your destiny blow fair.

Sincerely,

W. B. Eisenhardt, Ph.D.

ATTENTION ALL MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF 1987:

Although "Pairing the Cannon" is a great tradition, it has become rather boring.

And since our class is far from boring, the C.I.O. decided that it was high time for a new idea, creative and large enough so that the whole class could participate. Well after many sleepless nights, it finally came...

INFAMOUS SHOE TOSS!! Yes, hundreds of pairs of crocs, shoes, sneakers, and boots, which after being dunked in our sacred color RED will be thrown two by two (yes, like the animals basking in the sun) into the great Elm Tree between the Quarriderk and the Bookstore. The tree will have a sign, so don't worry. The designated sacred hour --- during which a class picture for the Yearbook will be taken --- is 1700.

Twas the night before a rugby match
And all through the dorm,
Not a muddle was stirring,
Quite out of the norm.
The ruggers were nestled all snug in their rods,
Dreaming of how to protect their precious sacks.
I'm my scones and Brian checking his gear,
Had just settled back to tap the first leg of beer.
When out in the courtyard there arose such a clatter,
Middles sprang to their feet to see what was the matter.

Out in the courtyard lined up in a row,
Were twelve drunken ruggers all crummin' in the snow.
And what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But eight more ruggers with eight kegs of beer.
They sang and they boasted all through the night,
How their opponents wouldn't be much of a fight.
They all awoke early, looking quite pale,
Having to drive two hours to pair twisted to boil.
They arrived at Orono to put on a show.
Although none of them knew his head from his toe.
They played all morning, they played all day,
Knowing there would be plenty of beer on its way.
They sang and they drank all through the night,
Chugging and barking what a wonderful sight.
They left the party, free still in their eyes,
Knowing they could get between the rugby queen's thighs.
And when it was over they sold with a sneer,
MMA rugby is the ball, see you next year!!!

My Lost Youth
by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

Often I think of the beautiful town
That is sooted by the sea;
Often it thought go up and down
The pleasant streets of that dear old town.
And my youth comes back to me;
And a verse of a Lapland song
Is haunting my memory still;
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

I can see the shadowy lines of its trees,
And catch, in sudden gleams,
The sheen of the far-surrounding seas,
And islands that were the Hesperides.
Of all my boyish dreams.
And the burden of that old song,
It murmurs and whispers still;
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

I remember the black whales and the ships,
And the sea-rides riding free;
And Spanish sailors with bearded foxes,
And the beauty and mystery of the ships,
And the magic of the sea.
And the voice of that wondrous song
Is singing and saying still;
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

I remember the bucolics by the shore,
And the fort upon the hill;
The sunset gun with its hollow roar,
The drum-beat repeated o'er and o'er,
And the bugle wild and shrill.
And the music of the old song
Treads in my memory still;
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

I remember the sea-fight far away,
How it thundered o'er the tidel!
And the dead capstans, as they lay
In their groves, a remembering the tranquil bay
Where they in battle died.
And the sound of that mournful song
Goes through me with a thrill;
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts.
I can see the breezy dome of groves,
The shadows of Deering's Woods;
And the friendships old and the early loves.
Come back with a Sabbath sound, as of doves.
In quiet nook and grove,
And the verse of that sweet old song,
It flutters and murmurs still.
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

I remember the gleams and glories that dare
gold across the school-boy's brain:
The sun and the silence in the heart,
That in part are prophetic, and in part
Are longings wild and vain.
And the voice of that latest song
Sings on, and is never still.
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

There are things of which I may not speak;
There are dreams that cannot die;
There are thoughts that make the strong heart weak,
And bring a pallor to the cheek,
And a mist before the eye.
And the words of that latest song,
Come over me like a chill.
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

Strange to me now are the forms I deem
When I visit the dear old town;
But the native air is pure and sweet,
And the trees that we listened to each lonely street,
As they balance up and down,
Are singing the beautiful song,
Are sighing and whispering still.
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

And Deering's Woods are fresh and fair.
And with joy that is almost pain,
My heart goes back to wander there,
And among the dreams of the days that were,
I find my lost youth again.
And the strange and beautiful song,
The groves are repeating it still.
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

This page is dedicated to all the people that made it possible for me to make it through here. Especially to Dawn, Matee, and Steve who stood by me all the way and made Sunday nights more tolerable. To Pete for all the help, inspiration, and advice, and to Michele for being there whenever I needed her. I could not have made it without any of you.

To my parents whose unending love and understanding has given me the strength and support I needed to make it through.

A special thanks to my friend, Terry Lynne for sticking by me and always being there.

To my dear parents,

Thank you for caring, for guiding me through life, and always letting me know how much you love me. Love always,

Just a quickie

To Cyn,

Let's celebrate everything about our being together. . . . The good times filled with our own kind of fun, the close times when we've reached out to each other with so much caring and love. . . . And let's celebrate the times we've struggled, too, because we've learned to understand each other better along the way. . . . Our relationship has become so much more than we ever imagined, and more than ever, I'm so glad we're together. I love you.

Thank you for all your support throughout the years.

To all my special friends who supported me and helped through the good and the bad.

To accomplish great things, we must not only act but also dream not only plan but also believe.

Maryann

Love you always and forever.

To Dad, Mom, Mark and Non:
In my world of many variables you're my one constant.

All I have I owe to my family. Without your love and support none of this could have been possible.
Morn, Dad, Nonni, . . . Thank you.
Mr. Benjamin Karen
Without your constant love and support I never would have made it through the tough times.
Thank you Karen I give my everlasting thanks and love.

While desperately seeking creativity for the 1987 Yearbook, we, the Editors, have decided that you, the personnel of MMA, could be of great assistance.

We ask a moment of your time, to simply, in one sentence, give us a word of advice or even a quote that will guide us through rough seas and into the future. . .

There is no magic formula for success — only hard work. KENNETH M. CURTIS

"Courage" DR. EISENHARDT

I hear, and I forget. I see, and I remember. I do, and I understand. HITCH (Gestaltus)

In that year, colonists built their first ocean-going vessel. Christened the Virginia of Sagadahock, it sailed from a little shipyard just twelve miles down river from the present site of the Bath Iron Works. Since its founding in 1884, Bath Iron Works has added many “firsts” to Maine’s catalogue of maritime achievements. And through the years, we’ve made the hallmark “Bath-built” a synonym for shipbuilding excellence. In the years to come, we will build ships in Bath and repair others in Portland. And each ship will carry a part of Maine’s proud maritime heritage to the oceans of the world. Thanks, Maine, for a great shipbuilding tradition.

A history of Bath Iron Works is on exhibit at the Maine Maritime Museum in Bath.
